Jordan Move Jolts Arab Unity Hopes

AMMAN (AP)—Jordan's strained relations with Egypt widened further today as she moved to close her embassy in Cairo.

The latest move in the mounting feud between Jordan and the Egyptian-Syrian alliance threatened to dissolve what little remains of the Arab unity proclaimed in Cairo four months ago by Egyptian President Nasser, Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly and Kings Hussein of Jordan and Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Announcing Sunday that the embassy was being closed, Jordan Foreign Minister Samir Rifai asserted this did not mean breaking

Reserve Pilot Dies In Crash

Wreckage Of Plane Found In Lake Erie

DUNKIRK, N. Y. (AP)—U.S. Coast Guard units today resumed their attempts to recover the body of a Naval reserve pilot who died in the crash of his plane in Lake Erie Sunday.

The dead pilot was identified as Lt. Robert Kampmiller, 35, of Unontown, Pa.

A two-man team of skindivers working with the Coast Guard reported finding the wreckage with Kampmiller's body inside Sunday night. But efforts to recover the body failed and work was suspended until the morning.

Kampmiller was on a routine training flight in a single-engined AD Skyraider attack bomber based at Akron, Ohio.

WITH him in a second Skyraider, was Lt. David Bertsch of Canton, Ohio. Bertsch reported that he was flying about 1,000 feet behind Kampmiller's plane when "unaccountably and with no prior warning (it) went into a tight, climbing turn, inverted and went into the water." It crashed about two miles off this lakeshore village at about 15 feet of water.

Kampmiller was a veteran of Pacific carrier operations in both World War II and the Korean conflict.

Bear Chases Camera Fan

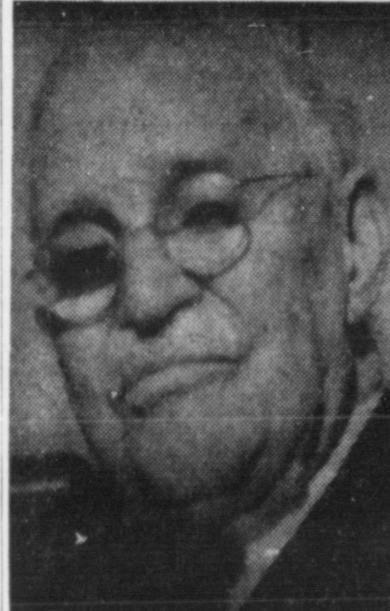

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—A publicity-shy bear charged a picture-taking Texas woman in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and made off with her purse.

Mrs. Westly Edwards, Houston, Tex., understandably excited, grabbed her hat, threw her purse to the ground, locked herself in her car and drove off without realizing she had left the purse behind.

The bear took the purse to the nearest picnic table, where he dropped it upon learning it contained an unappetizing $120.

Park officials returned it to Mrs. Edwards.

Death Claims O. E. Fults, 99

Services Planned Tuesday Afternoon

O. E. Fults, who was 99 years old last May 22, failed to realize his greatest ambition—to live to be 100 years old.

Mr. Fults, who was better known as Ed to his hundreds of friends, died unexpectedly at his home, 525 Lewis St., at 4 a.m. Sunday.

He had been in his usual good health and his granddaughter, Miss June Fults, who made her home with him, said he was "feeling fine" when he went to bed Sunday evening. But, about six hours later, he called to say he was not feeling well.

The Kirkpatrick ambulance was called but he died before it arrived. Death was due to a heart attack.

ALTHOUGH A NATIVE of Auglaize County, he had lived 98½ years of his long life in and near Washington C.H. His parents moved here when he was an infant and he grew up on a farm near Washington C. H.

When it came time for him to get out and make a living, he said in an interview on his 99th birthday, he went into the tile business.

After about 15 years, he gave up that and went into the truck gardening business on the CCC Highway, two miles west of Washington C. H. About 50 years ago went back to the farm, and did not retire until 1949, when he came into the city to make his home with his granddaughter.

On his 99th birthday, Mr. Fults said "I think I'm pretty lucky. Figuring that a man's allotted time is three score and ten years, I've lived 29 years on borrowed time already."

There was not much of a celeb-

5 Ohioans Honored By Young GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five Ohioans, all of them present or former congressmen, are included in the Young Republican National Federation's "Hall of Fame" of Republicans who achieved political success at a relatively early age.

The Hall of Fame is limited to Republicans who were 38 or younger when elected or appointed to high office, or who were active members of the Young Republican organization. Selection of 61 Hall of Famers will be made official at the federation's 10th annual convention here this week.

Fresh storms threatened areas of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota over the weekend.

The clash of cooler air with a humid blast tonguing its way from the torrid Southwest spawned torrential storms Sunday.

The Weather Bureau said new storms were brewing for northwest and extreme western Iowa, southeast and extreme eastern Nebraska, parts of southern Minnesota and parts of central Kansas.

By contrast, in a vast section of the nation there wasn't enough wind to blow out a match.

From Texas to southern Maine the nation was in a stupor. Temperatures were in the 90s in many places. Philadelphia got a record for a June 16 when the temperature soared to 100.

Civil Right Bill Up For Vote in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House meets today to pass President Eisenhower's civil rights bill and send it into a new battle against bitter-end Southern opposition in the Senate.

After Friday's 199-167 vote defeating the key Southerners' effort to modify the bill, there appeared no doubt the House will pass the measure. The House has agreed to shut off debate not later than 6 p. m.

A bipartisan group, reportedly including the top Republican leadership, was waiting in the Senate to try, probably Tuesday, to maneuver the House measure around the Southern-led Judiciary Committee, which has kept a similar bill bottled up.

And waiting to fight the progress of the legislation at every stage were outnumbered but determined Southern senators armed with a filibuster weapon which in the past has killed civil rights bills.

THE SOUTHERNERS in the House lost their battle Friday when they were unable to muster enough Republican support to write a jury trial amendment into the heart of the bill. This is the section which would allow the U.S. attorney general to go into a federal court for injunctions to block violations or attempted violations of voting and other civil rights.

The Southerners wanted to make it mandatory that anyone accused of violating such injunctions be guaranteed trial by a local jury. Proponents of the bill said this would weaken the legislation to the point of ineffectiveness.

House Southerners, although facing apparently certain defeat, have not yet finished trying to modify the bill. They said they have some eight more amendments to offer during the day.

Two especially will be pressed: (1) a move to strike out of the bill a section allowing the attorney

Heat Wave

The 952,000 gallon figure is not unusual for a hot summer day. Pumpage sometimes exceeds 1,200,000 gallons daily in hot weather.

THE WEATHERMAN could promise little in the way of relief until Wednesday except during thundershower. Washington C. H. missed weekend rains which skirted the area, although Jeffersonville got a heavy shower Sunday evening.

Coy A. Stookey, official weather observer here, reported a minimum temperature of 68 Sunday morning, but last night's low was a sticky 71 and the 8 a. m. temperature was 74 with clouds gathering.

A year ago Sunday the high was 87.

Profit Reports Show 'Squeeze' Some Sales Drop

25 of 44 Firms List Lower Net Income Figures

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The price-cost squeeze — and in some cases shrinking sales — show up today in the early reports on business profits in the first half of the fiscal year.

These reports come from companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar year.

Reports from 44 of the off-beat fiscal year companies show 25 of them with lower net income after taxes than in the corresponding first six months of their previous year. Six of the 44 report operating at a loss.

Combined the 44 report net income of $117,352,009 this year against $142,535,919 for the same 44 in the previous year, or a drop of 17.6 per cent.

But the totals are heavily weighted by a few industries that have been having rough going.

In the first quarter of this year business profits average out 7.6 per cent higher than in the first three months of 1956.

Two industries that tend to follow the farm year rather than the calendar year have been having profit problems.

All seven of the meat packing companies reporting on their first half results show profits lower this year than last. One operated at a loss. Combined the seven report earnings of $6,104,345 this year a drop of 79.5 per cent from the $29,853,081 the same seven made in the first half of last year.

Three of the six farm machinery firms report lower earnings this year. Three operated at a loss but two of these were able to cut their losses below those of a year ago. And one concern did so much better this year than in its discouraging previous year that combined the six report $31,576,043 this year, a 3.9 per cent gain on the $30,368,857 made by the same six the previous year.

The slowdown in home building shows up in the reports of firms making building materials. Most of those reporting early reveal this year's net income trailing last year.

In the past three centuries the world population has more than quadrupled.

Clean Brushes When Paint Job Is Completed

COLUMBUS — The cost of a new point brush can be saved if a used one is given proper care immediately after a refinishing job is done, says Anna Biebricher, extension home furnishings specialist at the Ohio State University.

If paint, shellac or varnish is allowed to dry in a brush, it never will be free of dried flecks, even though considerable effort is made later to clean it. Here are suggestions Miss Biebricher gives to clean a brush properly:

Scrape off all the excess material from the brush against the edge of the can and then brush back and forth on newspapers. Then wash the brush in three to five washings of the liquid that was used as a thinner — alcohol for shellac, turpentine for paint and varnish, and lacquer thinner for lacquer.

When the cleaner remains clear, wash the brush in a suds of soap or detergent, rinse and dry. To keep bristles in shape, wrap them with paper held with a rubber band and store brushes on a flat surface or hang them from the top of the handle for drying or storing, never rest the brush directly on the lower edge of its bristles, advises the specialist.

KQE 379 Didn't Help Things!

On a hot, humid summer night, the work of police officer is a dreary, irritating, sweaty job.

That was perfectly in evidence Sunday night, when radion en around this area began announcing their midnight station identifications.

One by one, as the clock struck 12, the voices of sticky worn-out deskmen came over the police circuit, announcing the names and call letters of the units in service.

Suddenly, through the hot damp night, a stiff, crackling voice cut the air like a knife.

"This is Police Radio KQE 379 at 12 o'clock— broadcasting from the Hillsboro Police Department, with air-conditioned offices in Hillsboro, Ohio!"

And the night seemed, if anything, just a little hotter after that!

Fledgling Star Shuns Appraisal

Jean Seberg Declines To Evaluate Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jean Seberg, already a star in her first movie, has taken her first look at Hollywood, but it's still no decision on how she likes the town.

"I'm only here for two days," commented the Marshalltown, Iowa, beauty over breakfast at her hotel. "About my only impression of Hollywood has been from the inside of a cocktail party. And I'd hate to judge a town from that."

If she did, the decision might be negative. The party was a reception in her honor and she had to receive hundreds of guests with poise and charm for over three hours. It's a tough job for a teenager.

But she carried it off well. Much better than some of her guests, in fact. One asked her a question to deliberately shock her (he did). Another asked her a mundane question and snapped at her reply: "That's a cliché, and I hate clichés; I like people to be natural."

Commented Jean: "I guess he was expecting me to explode, like an Iowa Anna Magnani. I did snap back at him, and I guess he liked it."

I asked Jean if she would like to settle here, and she said:

"I'll be back in December, and I suppose I will find a place to live here then. Though with the studios shutting down and all, I may not be able to find a job. I may have to go back to Marshalltown."

That's not likely. Otto Preminger gave her the best kind of backing after choosing her from the ranks of unknowns to play the lead in "Saint Joan." From here she leaves for New York, London and then France, where she'll star for Preminger in "Bonjour Tristesse" with Deborah Kerr and David Niven.

68½ Million School Lunches Served in Ohio in 1956-57

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio school cafeterias are serving enough meals every year to give each of Ohio's nine million residents a meal a day for a week.

The 68½-million lunches served in the 1956-57 school year indicate nearly a three-fold growth of the lunch program in the last decade. Reflecting the growing interest in the program will be the attendance, beginning Wednesday, of nearly 1,000 school lunch employees and supervisors, school administrators and teachers at the second annual Summer School Lunch Conference at the Ohio State Fairgrounds here.

Experts in food preparation, research, distribution and education will address the three-day conference and more than 30 firms will exhibit foods and food equipment.

Among the speakers and demonstrators will be E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction; Miss Reba Staggs and Miss Sophia Lovekamp of the National Livestock and Meat Board, Chicago; Hal Bolin of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Chicago, and Miss Ann Davies of the U.S. Department of Interior, Washington.

Under the first year of the National School Lunch Act of 1946, 1,132 schools took part and served 187,340 children daily. Total for the year was 24 million lunches and 28 million half-pints of milk.

In the school year just ended, 1,796 schools were taking part and 418,000 children were being served each day.

In the decade, the federal fund allotment has increased from $2,179,521 to $6,239,522 and the amount spent for food by local schools jumped from $5,151,424 to $17,400,000.

The school milk program showed an even greater increase—from 28 million half-pints in 1946-47 to 158 million in 1956-57.

Next week's conference is co-

Residents of this community may feel fortunate that the Argentine ant is not included among the insect pests with which they have to contend.

There are numerous kinds of ants, more or less annoying about homes in some areas, but the Argentine ant, which has spread over a wide area in southern states is one of the most destructive and feared of all insects in the United States.

The Argentine ant was first introduced at New Orleans, through cargo ships from Brazil in 1891, and since that time has largely been restricted to the southwestern fourth of the nation, but is still spreading.

Whether it will ever reach this far north, is problematical, but it is possible.

It is a small ant and is regarded as the most annoying and destructive household insect wherever it is established.

It drives out all other kinds of ants, swarms into houses and stores, gets into all kinds of foods; is injurious to all fruit crops and shade trees by attacking blossoms and by distributing, establishing and protecting aphids, mealy bugs and scale insects. It also is troublesome in bee and poultry yards.

The Argentine ant also prevents people from sleeping by invading bedrooms. The workers are 1-12 to 1-8 inch long, brown with lighter appendages. They have a slight, musty or greasy odor when crushed and always travel along definite trails.

These ants attack livestock and human beings and by their great numbers, are dangerous.

Workers have been driven from fields by the multitude of vicious verocious Argentine ants, which are about as destructive as the famous army ants which strip everything as they go.

Let us hope that the Argentine ant stays in the South, although I am informed it is continuing to spread northward. The colder climate here may be one of the best assurance it will never thrive here

All able bodied men were given choice of working or being prosected for loitering, as the United States went into high gear to win the war against Germany.

Wheat cutting was two weeks behind the usual time, with cutting looming the second week in July. (No wheat was being combined in those days.)

A food price control bill had been introduced and was being rushed through to halt unreasonable food prices.

The B&O Railroad took over the CH&D and issued 40 million dollars worth of operating bonds.

The Hillsboro, Cynthiana, Bainbridge and Chillicothe Traction Co. asked for a charter to build a traction line and to issue $400,000 additional bonds to finance the project.

Is Underworld Showing Greater Power?

Publicity in the past few months has given rise to a feeling among many people that the criminal element in our population in this nation has been increasing its power in offsetting, and in some ways prohibiting, justice being done.

There was a time back in the days of the prohibition era when it appeared that courts, honest police officers and other public officials in many localities were almost helpless in rigidly enforcing the anti-liquor law.

While that is not the situation at present there seems to be a growth of ability now on the part of the underworld to intimidate witnesses and use other methods to protect criminal leaders. The recent example involving the notorious Johnny Dio whom certain witnesses refused to testify against through fear of reprisal pointedly emphasized this.

When the federal government recently had to give up in bringing Dio and henchmen to trial, or at least was compelled to postpone its efforts because other gangsters already convicted feared and refused to testify in the attack and acid blinding on Victor Riesel, the columnist for his expose of their rackets. Witnesses are said to have admitted threats against them. The helplessness of prosecution in such instances has become a matter for nation-wide comment.

The under-cover type of powerful criminal interests who resort to such things is not a new development but appears to be gaining in frequency and in utter disregard of law and order.

That it is a shocking menace is clear. It is evident there is too much of this jungle type of super-government in the land. Gangster type individuals have proven that they have dominated various types of organizations, even businesses and unions and have thrived on the tribute they exact.

Americans are right up against the question of how long they are going to allow their society to be ruled in this fashion.

One of the saddest aspects of this situation is that subservience to violence corrodes national character at all levels. It is a kind of blackmail practiced in large and small ways, not only by criminal elements young and old but by various individuals seeking to enforce their will upon others.

This sort of thing can go on growing until things become so bad that a public outburst occurs; then the criminals and their helpers run for cover. Even so they are liable to emerge as soon as they think the public has "cooled off."

When You Are Ready, God Calls

NEW YORK (AP)—"God waits until you are ready, then calls for you."

That is the simple faith of Erin O'Brien, young singer who knocked for years at opportunity's door and found no one at home.

"So many times I wanted so hard to have a career, and nothing happened. And then, after I had done almost nothing for three years everything seemed to happen at once."

Erin got her first break in an appearance on the Arthur Godfrey show. Then Steve Allen put her on four programs. Coral Records asked her to do an album for them, and Warner Brothers signed her to a term contract.

In her first picture she will play the second feminine lead in "Marjorie Morningstar," a film version of Herman Wouk's best-selling novel.

Erin is as dramatically beautiful as a royal palm tree bending in the wind, and it is hard to see how Hollywood overlooks her for so long, particularly since she's a hometown girl.

She is one of 14 children (six sons, eight daughters); of a California milkman, and she started learning to sing in the family choir.

"Mama played the piano," she recalled. "And dad sang a fine baritone. He could have had a professional career himself if he hadn't had such a large family, or so mama says."

Her entrance into the entertainment spotlight has turned neither her head nor the heads of those at home.

"My family is very proud, but also very critical," she said, smiling. "My sisters tell me, 'don't look square on your next show.'"

Miss O'Brien has one big goal at the moment.

"When I sing, I know why something I do is right or wrong. When I act, I don't. At the studio they think I do, but I really don't. What I'd like to do most is to study acting, because I'd rather act than sing. I suppose everyone wants to do well something he doesn't know how to do at all."

denied all doors seemed to open." During this search for a break that never came, Erin married Jimmy Fitzgerald, a another young singer and had two sons. "Now I'm mature. Somebody told me it was the babies that did it. I don't know. What does make you mature?"

Large families seem to run in our line. Dad comes from a family of 13 kids, mama from a family of either 15 or 16—I forgot which."

From earlier childhood Erin, who is dark-haired and has a petal-fair complexion, dreamed of being an actress.

"When I sing, I know why something I do is right or wrong. When I act, I don't. At the studio they think I do, but I really don't. What I'd like to do most is to study acting, because I'd rather act than sing. I suppose everyone wants to do well something he doesn't know how to do at all."

low like Dave Beck who is accused of swiping money, takes the Fifth, he is supposed to be an inimical so-and-so, but when these others take the Fifth on the communist issue, they are supposed to be forgiven and forgotten.

Three witnesses who took the Fifth, for example, were Mack Cinzori, tool and die section committee man for Local 600 of UAW at Ford Motor Co.; James Simmons, recently elected vice president of the steering gear and machinery unit of Local 600; and Harry M. Philo, recently elected financial secretary of the S.T.A.R. Unit of UAW at the Rouge plant of Ford Motor Co. It is not startling that this should appear in Ford plants because it was unto the Ford company that the Communists went after the UAW was reformed under Walter Reuther.

Such Fifth Amendment pleading goes on steadily before the Eastland Committee and receives little attention perhaps because Dave Beck and his son are so much more dramatic. But in the long run, the fact that important leaders in the Ford branch of the UAW take the Fifth Amendment on the very simple issue of whether they are on were Communists proves that the cells are still flourishing in important places. For instance, James Simmons

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — You'll be hearing soon—after a long silence about President Eisenhower's federal employee security program, the one the Democrats called a "numbers racket."

The Republicans, who tried to make political hay with this program for two years after taking office, haven't released a figure on security risks since November 1955.

A 12-man commission, authorized by Congress, will make recommendations for improving the program June 23. This group has been studying it since December 1955.

In November of that year the Civil Service Commission—which the administration used as spokesman on the security program—announced that from May 1953, when the program started, through September 1955, this was the score:

Under Eisenhower's program 5,920 people resigned from the government with derogatory information in their files while 3,683 were fired because of security questions involving them.

But the Democrats charged the figures were scrambled, that a huge majority of those who quit or were fired were separated from their jobs under normal civil service procedures and not through the machinery of the program at all.

Further, they said hundreds of those listed as ousted were given other government jobs although this fact didn't show up in the CSC figures. The Democrats in 1956 warned the Republicans to cut out playing with numbers.

But the deadliest blow to Eisenhower's program came from the Supreme Court in a decision June 11, 1956. This decision was to the effect that the government may not summarily dismiss on security grounds worker whose jobs are not directly concerned with national security.

In the year since then the Justice Department—because of what the court decision did to the program—has worked on changes. But after 12 months the Justice Department still hasn't recommended changes. It's probably waiting—before sticking its neck out—to see what the 12-man commission recommends.

Eisenhower's program for getting security risks and disloyal people out of the government was the most sweeping ever attempted by any administration. As the Supreme Court made clear, it went too far.

In 1947 President Truman set up a program for getting rid of government employees of questionable loyalty. And in 1950 Congress passed a law making it easier to get rid of security risks—but only those in sensitive jobs.

But Eisenhower scrapped Truman's program, lumped security and loyalty cases into one program, and provided for firing people as security risks no matter what kind of government job they held. Their job didn't have to involve security.

And who was a security risk? Under Eisenhower's program it could be a man who drank or talked too much, or a homosexual who might be blackmailed. For example: it could even be a food inspector. And that's what happened.

A government food inspector in New York was suspended as a security risk because he refused to explain about the people he associated with in private life. He fought the case up to the Supreme Court.

The court, ruling in his favor in June 1956, ordered him reinstated. It said he held a nonsensitive job and under that law of 1950 only people in sensitive jobs could be suspended as security risks.

That knocked Eisenhower's program over the roof. Hundreds of people already suspended from nonsensitive jobs as security risks had to be reinstated with back pay.

The CSC no longer could report batches of people in nonsensitive jobs as fired under the heading of security risks. In fact, a whole new method of reporting had to be worked out. CSC left this to the Justice Department.

That department hasn't devised—or, if it has, hasn't announced so yet—a new system.

One of the things which burned up the Democrats about the CSC figures was the fact that many people listed as resigning with derogatory information in their files—never knew it and did not resign because of security at all.

Back on the Treadmill

In the days of Joe McCarthy that seem so far away, fellows were brought to the stand where, when asked to state whether they were Communists or not, they would take the plea of the Fifth Amendment and go home to sin some more.

Joe used to get sore at these fellows shout at them, call them liars, tell them that they were unfit to live, but it made very little difference. Most of them were Communists and they did what the party lawyers told them to do.

Now the McClellan Committee got itself all involved with Dave Beck, a labor leader who did what it came naturally for labor leaders to do, so that committee has the Fifth Amendment on the conservative side. Dave Beck simply says to the committee:

"You fellows have an appropriation from Congress, so go and find out what I did. I shall make no voluntary confessions." The voluntary or involuntary confession is a Soviet device in politics. In Stalin's time, it was a prelude to death.

Joe McCarthy was regarded as reactionary for criticizing the Communists for doing what Dave Beck and his son did because the Communists only betrayed their country while Dave Beck is being accused of swindling money from his union. It is, of course, a question of values—treason vs. petty or grand larceny.

Now along comes the Eastland Committee and it gets itself involved with officials of the United Auto Workers, Walter Reuther's union which is supposed to be as clean as crystal-clear water, having no taint of any kind of corruption and being held before us as an example of what a labor union should be. It would seem that a number of officials of this union have been identified as Communists and when brought before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, they took the plea of the Fifth Amendment as in the good old days of Joe McCarthy.

Only now there is a double standard, namely, that if a fel-

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

We can learn a lot from animals.

130 Operations

Surgeons already are using hypothermia or artificial hibernation, in certain types of heart operations. One surgical team recently completed more than 130 such cardiac operations.

In hypothermia, the patient's body is cooled. This reduces the rate of metabolism and therefore the body's need for oxygen.

Under such conditions it is possible to interrupt the heart's blood circulation for as long as nine minutes while it is opened for necessary repairs.

As the cooled patient is gradually warmed, the slowed heart resumes its normal beat, about 70 beats per minute.

Some of the questions surgeons would like answered are:

Upon what chemical does the heart draw for this increased heart action? Could high energy phosphates be used to restore action if necessary?

Maybe the work of doctors will help us find out.

For example, Dr. W. G. Bigelow of the University of Toronto has found a brown-colored fat in hibernating animals.

Low Temperatures

An extract of this material would appear to improve the ability of test animals to tolerate low body temperatures, but the work is not yet completed.

Dr. Marilyn L. Zimny, of Louisiana State University Medical School, has noted that as far as animals are concerned the starch stored in liver and cardiac muscle provides the extra surge of energy needed for arousal from hibernation.

All of these facts might prove very valuable in our search for better operating methods. Only time will tell.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. A. M.: I awake during the night with numbness in my hands and fingertips. I also have soreness in the arms and shoulders. Would the numbness be caused by rheumatism or is it due to poor circulation?

Answer: It is impossible to tell what disturbance is causing the numbness in your hands and fingers and soreness in your arms and shoulders. This might be due to a circulatory disturbance, to arthritis or to some nervous disorder.

A thorough study by your physician is needed to find the cause and proper treatment.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a girl friend—I'll call her Margy—who is 13. She likes him very well. Bill, who is 17—who really enjoys hurting girls. He is out for fun, pretends he likes them (says thinks he does); and I know he makes out plenty with Margy.

At dances he won't dance with Margy, just to get her goat, are a face-saving excuse for snubbing her at social events. He snubs her in public because he's ashamed of their relationship—ashamed of his part in it, for being an all-around heel with a kid who is fascinated by him. I call that stinker behavior, coming and going—a revolving stinker, as someone has said.

Now about Margy: She is playing the fool, of course, in fancying herself a siren at age 13, who might capture Bill's heart with trolley behavior. And it seems a pity that she has only her crowd at school, and a 14-year-old best friend (namely you), who are on their toes, trying to help her get straight about her mistake. Don't any of you kids have parents at home, with whom to discuss these things?

I have written bluntly, in the hope that plain words may open Margy's eyes to her folly, and give Bill a candid camera shot of himself from the audience angle. Both Margy and Bill have much to learn.

Bill and Cathy dance together at parties, and kid like mad if they meet elsewhere; but that's all. So far as I know, Bill doesn't like Cathy specially; but he gives no clues either way. However, he treats her very nicely, and if they have an argument or disagreement, he patches it up at once. He respects her very much—and he doesn't respect Margy.

As Margy's best friend, what can I do to discourage her from liking Bill? What can any of us do to help her put him out of her mind for good? The kids in our crowd have tried to talk her out of it; and some of the boys have fought with her about Bill, to no avail.

If anybody asks "Why does she take it?" (from Bill), somebody else always says, "It's because she's so young." But I am only 14, and I wouldn't let a fellow treat me like that. I respect myself. Please answer soon as I want to save Margy from being on Bill's list of "old burnt girl friends."

K. S.
DEAR K. S.: To put the picture in perspective, Margy might be a freshman in high school, and Bill, a senior, I suppose. And, no doubt, he is embarrassed, apologetic and defensive, amongst his peers (his fellow seniors), about the matter of robbing the cradle, and taking advantage of a baby—and so forth, and so on—as regards Margy. To cover his embarrassment

Boys' State Delegates Return Home

Fayette County's two Buckeye Boys' State delegates returned home from Camp Perry over the weekend as 1,000 delegates, the largest group in 20 years, wound up the American Legion's experiment in citizenship for another year.

Sponsored by Paul H. Hughey Post as representatives this year were Tom Swaim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swaim, 532 N. North St., and Donald Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Conley, Route 1, Mt. Sterling.

SWAIM, a Washington High School student, was elected to the Boys' State House of Representatives. Conley, vice president of the junior class at Madison Mills High School this year, was appointed an assistant city auditor at Boys' State.

Other Washington C. H. residents taking part in the sessions were Robert E. Minshall, public relations director for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., who was reelected vice president of the Boys' State board of trustees; R. B. Sharp, business manager of the Ohio Department of the American Legion, and Norman Burris, an optometry student at Ohio State University, who served as a state government counselor.

BOYS' STATE delegates are divided into two evenly divided political parties, the nationalists and federalists, and become residents of 20 cities which, in turn, are located in four counties creating a mythical 49th "state." With the aid of a special information booklet, mailed to each delegate a few days before the session opens, and under guidance from experienced voluntary workers of the American Legion (judges, attorneys, state officials, business men,) and a counseling staff of college students, they campaign for office, hold conventions, vote in a general "election," and operate the cities, counties, and the "state."

After the election a majority of the Boys' State citizens serve in the capacities to which they were elected and govern themselves through councils, commissions, and a "state" legislature. They establish a system of courts, a highway patrol, and a bar association, and "own" homes, pay taxes and be generally responsible for other duties of citizenship, using mythical checking accounts, of course.

Those who hold no office, become attorneys, seek appointments for various jobs, establish banks, utility firms, etc., all in accordance with the Ohio Code. For practical purposes, (salary, taxes, etc.) one full day in the operation of the mythical state represents about 30 days.

Boys' State Delegates Return Home

Fayette County's two Buckeye Boys' State delegates returned home from Camp Perry over the weekend as 1,008 delegates, the largest group in 20 years, wound up the American Legion's experience in citizenship for another year.

Sponsored by Paul H. Hughey Post as representatives this year were Tom Swaim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swaim, 532 N. North St., and Donald Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Conley, Route 1, Mt. Sterling.

SWAIM, a Washington High School student, was elected to the Boys' State House of Representatives. Conley, vice president of the junior class at Madison Mills High School this year, was appointed an assistant city auditor at Boys' State.

Other Washington C. H. residents taking part in the session were Robert E. Minshall, public relations director for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., who was reelected vice president of the Boys' State board of trustees; R. B. Tharp, business manager of the Ohio Department of the American Legion, and Norman Burris, an optometry student at Ohio State University, who served as a state government counselor.

BOYS' STATE delegates are divided into two evenly divided political parties, the nationalists and federalists, and become residents of 20 cities which, in turn, are located in four counties creating a mythical 49th "state." With the aid of a special information booklet, mailed to each delegate a few days before the session opens, and under guidance from experienced voluntary workers of the American Legion (judges, attorneys, state officials, business men) and a counseling staff of college students, they campaign for office, hold conventions, vote in a general "election," and operate the cities, counties, and the "state."

After the election a majority of the Boys' State citizens serve in the capacities to which they were elected and govern themselves through councils, commissions, and a "state" legislature. They establish a system of courts, a highway patrol, and a bar association, and "own" homes, pay taxes and be generally responsible for other duties of citizenship, using mythical checking accounts, of course.

Those who hold no office, become attorneys, seek appointments for various jobs, establish banks, utility firms, etc., all in accordance with the Ohio Code. For practical purposes, (salary, taxes, etc.) one full day in the operation of the mythical state represents about 30 days.

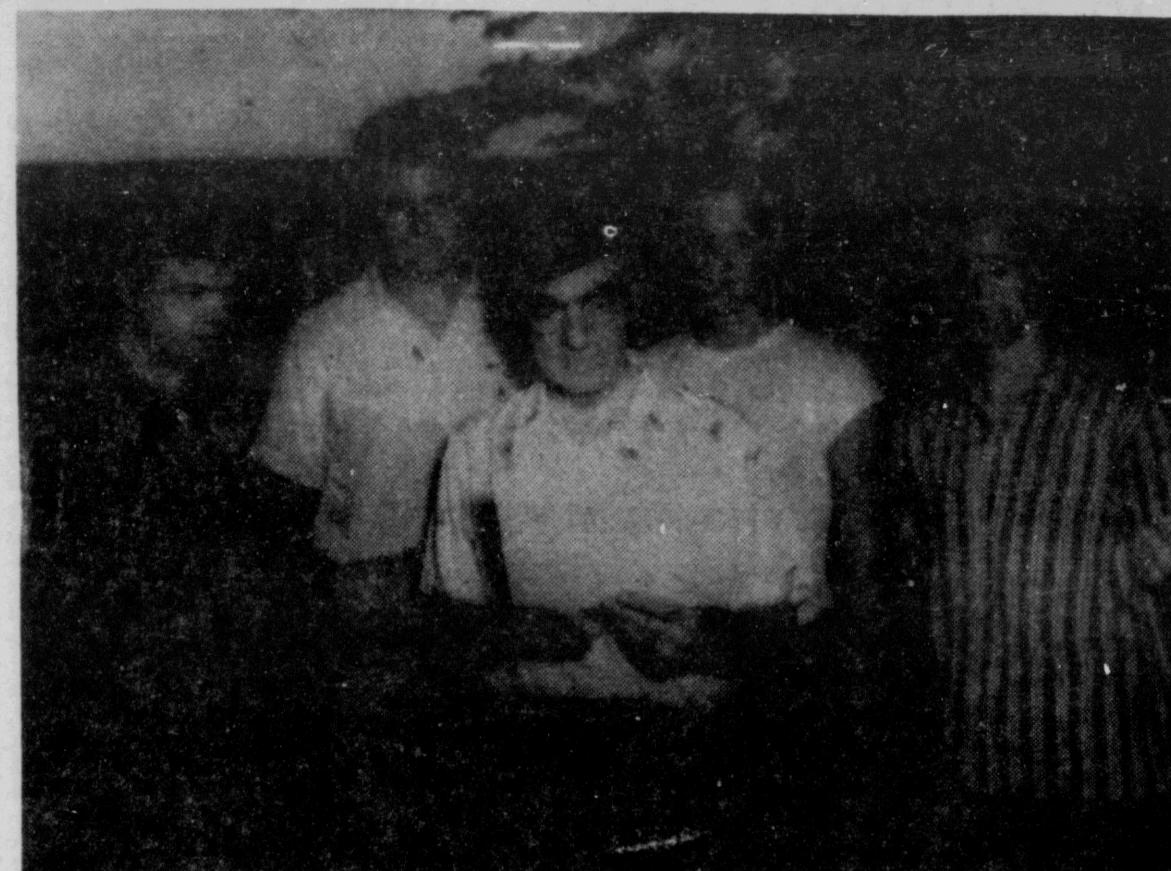

OUTSIDE "office hours" Boys' State citizens organize a large band, enjoy swimming in Lake Erie and other recreation, hear talks on government and stage their own vaudeville show.

The object is to train a cross-section of likely leaders of tomorrow, with the hope that they will in time take a lively interest in the American system of government and perpetuate democratic principles.

Supreme Court Justices' Wives Want Them To Relax

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — When the last decision handed down and they doff their somber black robes for the summer recess, the nine justices of the Supreme Court will try to find some relaxation from their high responsibilities.

That is, if their wives have their way. According to the wives, the members of the highest court in the land never quite detach themselves from their legal obligations. In fact, most of them never separate themselves from their loaded briefcases.

"They never stop reading and researching," says one Justice's wife.

Pretty Mrs. Tom Clark says this summer is the first in many years she and her husband have had plans for the recess. Along with Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren, Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert Brownell and Associate Justice and Mrs. John Marshall Harlan, the Clarks are sailing on the Queen Mary July 17 to attend the joint meeting of the American Bar Assn. and the British Legal Society in London.

"After that we plan to go to France, Germany and perhaps stay a little while in the Austrian Alps," Mrs. Clark told me.

Sometime this summer, however, the Clarks hope to see their son Ramsey, who lives in Dallas with his wife and two children, and their daughter Mimi, who is married to Lt. Thomas R. Gronlund, stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and who has a girl, Gail, 2.

Justice and Mrs. Harlan expect to go from London to Scotland to visit friends he met while attending Oxford University, where he was a Rhodes scholar. The remainder of the summer they will spend at their home in the hills of Connecticut, near Westport.

Justice Charles Evans Whittaker and Mrs. Whittaker hope to move some time before the court convenes this fall, though Mrs. Whittaker has had little time to go house-hunting. Their youngest son, Gary, is graduating from Rockhurst High School at Kansas City and another son, Kent, from Dartmouth College. A third son, Dr. Keith Whittaker, is taking his internship in a Kansas City hospital.

'Fact' on TV Seen Growing

Critic Feels 'Fiction' Shows Some Decline

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — It seems to me that the realm of fact has been far outstripping the realm of fiction in television programming recently.

To be categorical about it, "fact" involves programs which report and interpret contemporary life. In literature "fiction" also reports and interprets contemporary life. On television, however, "fiction" — meaning drama both live and filmed — has seemed generally tired in recent weeks; with a few notable exceptions it has offered low-level entertainment.

To take an optimistic view of television viewing in this slack summer season, there are several regular "factual" programs worthy of attention.

Television has been getting closer to the news lately — and it's been making more news.

Most obvious, of course, is the televised interview with Nikita S. Khrushchev, secretary of the Soviet Communist party, on CBS-TV two weeks ago. The implications of the telecast were further stimulated by the appearance of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) on "Face The Nation" (CBS-TV, Sundays, 4 p.m., Eastern Daylight time a week later).

The questioning by reporters on news panel programs strikes me as being sharper and better integrated in recent months.

Seasoned newspaper reporters who appear on news panels improve — not as reporters necessarily, but as TV personalities — from recurrent exposure to the red eye of the camera. A similar improvement is noticeable in persons in public life who make frequent television appearances.

Crew Buzzes Off As Bees Take Over

PHILADELPHIA — A big batch of bees buzzed in on a boat here and its crew was forced to abandon ship.

The dredge Franklin was operating near Burlington Island in the Delaware River near Bristol, Pa., when the stinging insects suddenly took over the bridge, machine and locker rooms. Capt. Raymond Dick told his crew of 20 to buzz off, and the men wasted no time leaving.

Dick then called Bristol Township Police chief John R. Stewart, an apilarist in his off hours. Stewart managed to round up the bees, and the crew returned.

The Curse of Cowdray—Old Legend 'Lives' Again in Ruined Castle

Just 49 miles southwest of London stands the ruin which once was magnificent Cowdray House.

By STEVE LIBBY

ANYONE'S LIST of favorite English country towns within easy reach of London must include Midhurst.

The single broad main street with several quaint and narrow ones, the stocks and pillory preserved next to the medieval church, the comfortable inns and the rural surroundings make this pleasant little town ideal for an excursion into the Sussex countryside.

Midhurst is situated on the edge of the well-timbered domain of Cowdray park, the property of Viscount Cowdray. Lord Cowdray's home is a comparatively modern mansion dating from the early Nineteenth Century.

He cannot live in the original Cowdray House, which the huge park was designed to grace for the simple reason that this great Sixteenth Century mansion is now a shattered ruin. Burnt to a shell one fateful night in 1793, it has remained a ruin ever since — mute testimony to the fulfillment of the Curse of Cowdray.

Cowdray House, with its great mulioned windows, ornamental stonework and other details, was built in the reign of Henry VIII (1509-1547). Henry's son, young King Edward VI, was entertained here by Sir Anthony Browne (father of the first Viscount Montague) in 1552.

At THAT TIME the family also held another property in Sussex, for at the dissolution of the monasteries in 1539 they had been granted ownership of Battle Abbey, which stood on the battlefield where William the Conqueror had gained his famous victory of Hastings in the year 1066.

The church and cloisters were razed, the abbot's lodging converted into a dwelling and the monks were dispersed.

However, the last of the monks to leave, so the legend goes, laid a curse upon the usurping family, pronouncing that they would end by fire and water.

As the years went by, there came the great day when Queen Elizabeth I showed her favor to the second viscount by paying a visit to Cowdray in 1592, during which she shot several deer with a crossbow.

Life was lived by the Montagues on a fantastic scale, and little if any thought was given to the Curse of Cowdray. Prominent men and women of the times talked of the magnificence of the mansion and its furnishings. Indeed, in the Eighteenth Century, Dr. Johnson observed, "Sir, I should like to stay here four-and-twenty hours. We see here how our ancestors lived!"

THE YEAR 1793 found Cowdray in the possession of the eighth Vis-

Hollywood Oldtimer Aghast As TV Filming Gets Start

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Well, I never thought I'd see the day!"

That sentiment was voiced by a movietown oldtimer, and "the day" was when the first television series started filming on the MGM lot. This was complete surprise to the new medium.

MGM is happily taking the new era in stride. Said Bud Barry, once NBC production chief and now head of MGM's TV operations: "We're in this business to stay."

The first foot in the door has been placed by the durable Thin Man, who has served the Culver City lot well since his arrival in 1934. Now the Thin Man emerges as a half-hour mystery show. Peter Lawford and Phyllis Kirk are playing the Nick and Nora Charles roles created by William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Oh, yes, Asta is aboard, too. But not the original fox terrier, of course. Not even a relative. In fact, he's played by three different dogs with the same markings.

"It's a bit of a problem to have a murder and solve it in a half-hour show," Lawford remarked between scenes, "but the writer has managed to do it and keep the flavor of Nick and Nora. I gates of Cowdray park, and with them the line of Browne's was extinguished. The Curse of Cowdray had been fulfilled.

And Battle Abbey? It passed into the ownership of several different families as the generations passed. Today, it has settled down to the relatively peaceful existence of a girl's school.

think that is the element that will set it apart from shows like "Mr. and Mrs. North."

The next big project is a "Min and Bill" series, possibly with Peggy Wood opposite Chill Wills. Also in the works: a "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" series, "Northwest Passage," and several others.

This is part of the diversification program started by company president Joseph Vogel. It has resulted in 45 million dollars in sales of old movies to TV, part interests in three stations and a TV commercial business estimated at 3 million in the past year.

Sheriff Is Tired Of Fixing Up TV

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Sheriff Owen Kilday has warned county jail prisoners that he's going to crack down on them if they don't start acting nice.

Kilday sent word that if any more television sets were damaged during the course of riots prisoners would not be allowed to see "Dragnet," "The Lineup" or any other TV program that might appeal to them.

Kilday said, "I've been paying the repair bills on those TV sets. Last month they came to $38."

He spends the winter recess in Florida. An expert tennis player, the justice gets great pleasure playing on his own tennis court with his neighbors and friends.

Fayette County G'ts $77,849.29 From State Sources

To help local governments pay for such general operating costs as salaries of officials and employees, police and fire protection, street lighting, parks, playgrounds and the usual monthly bills the state of Ohio has provided $45,156,545.96 during the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

Fayette County's share was $77,849.29.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced the yearly total following the final distribution of sales tax to local governments. Payments this year amount to $1,705,029 more than the total for the preceding fiscal year.

The state sends the money to county treasurers. It is allocated among local political subdivisions by the county budget commission.

The sales tax provided $22,020,000 of the more than $45 million distributed for local government purposes. The intangible tax paid by banks and dealers in securities furnished $19,525,769.36. An emergency appropriation by the Legislature provided $3,610,776.60.

The Curse of Cowdray—Old Legend 'Lives' Again in Ruined Castle

Just 49 miles southwest of London stands the ruin which once was magnificent Cowdray House.

By STEVE LIBBY

ANYONE'S LIST of favorite English country towns within easy reach of London must include Midhurst.

The single broad main street with several quaint and narrow ones, the stocks and pillory preserved next to the medieval church, the comfortable inns and the rural surroundings make this pleasant little town ideal for an excursion into the Sussex countryside.

Midhurst is situated on the edge of the well-timbered domain of Cowdray park, the property of Viscount Cowdray. Lord Cowdray's house is a comparatively modern mansion, dating from the early Nineteenth Century.

He cannot live in the original Cowdray House, which the huge park was designed to grace for the simple reason that this great Sixteenth Century mansion is now a shattered ruin. Burnt to a shell one fateful night in 1793, it has remained a ruin ever since — mute testimony to the fulfillment of the Curse of Cowdray.

Cowdray House, with its great mulioned windows, ornamental stonework and other details, was built in the reign of Henry VIII (1509-1547). Henry's son, young King Edward VI, was entertained here by Sir Anthony Browne (father of the first Viscount Montague) in 1552.

At THAT TIME the family also held another property in Sussex, for at the dissolution of the monasteries in 1539 they had been granted ownership of Battle Abbey.

Dick then called Bristol Township Police chief John R. Stewart, an apothecary in his off hours, Stewart managed to round up the bees, and the crew returned.

Hollywood Oldtimer Aghast As TV Filming Gets Start

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Well, I never thought I'd see the day!"

That sentiment was voiced by a movietown oldtimer, and "the day" was when the first television series started filming on the MGM lot. This was complete surrender to the new medium.

MGM is happily taking the new era in stride. Said Bud Barry, once NBC production chief and now head of MGM's TV operations: "We're in this business to stay."

The first foot in the door has been placed by the durable Thin Man, who has served the Culver City lot well since his arrival in 1934. Now the Thin Man emerges as a half-hour mystery show. Peter Lawford and Phyllis Kirk are playing the Nick and Nora Charles roles created by William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Oh, yes, Asta is aboard, too. But not the original fox terrier, of course. Not even a relative. In fact, he's palied by three different dogs with the same markings.

"It's a bit of a problem to have a murder and solve it in a half-hour show," Lawford remarked between scenes, "but the writer has managed to do it and keep the flavor of Nick and Nora."

gates of Cowdray park, and with them the line of Browne was extinguished. The Curse of Cowdray had been fulfilled.

And Battle Abbey? It passed into the ownership of several different families as the generations passed. Today, it has settled down to the relatively peaceful existence of a girl's school.

THE ESTATE passed to his sister, and the succession seemed assured by the birth of two sons. In July, 1815, the two boys, then aged 14 and 10, went for a seaside holiday at the village of Aldwick, near Bognor on the Sussex coast.

One afternoon they went out for a sail; it was a perfectly calm day, but a sudden gust of wind capsized the boat, and both were drowned.

"Fire and water"—it was 276 years since the monk of Battle Abbey had uttered his dread curse. The brothers were buried in Eastbourne church, just outside the

think that is the element that will set it apart from shows like 'Mr. and Mrs. North.'

The next big project is a "Min and Bill" series, possibly with Peggy Wood opposite Chill Wills. Also in the works: a "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" series, "Northwest Passage," and several others.

This is part of the diversification program started by company President Joseph Vogel. It has resulted in 45 million dollars in sales of old movies to TV, part interests in three stations and a TV commercial business estimated at 3 million in the past year.

Sheriff Is Tired Of Fixing Up TV

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Sheriff Owen Kilday has warned county jail prisoners that he's going to crack down on them if they don't start acting nice.

Kilday sent word that if any more television sets were damaged during the course of riots prisoners would not be allowed to see "Dragnet," "The Lineup" or any other TV program that might appeal to them.

Kilday said, "I've been paying the repair bills on those TV sets. Last month they came to $38."

Cards Dump Bums Twice, Move To 2nd

Burdette Loses One-Hitter; Reds Drop To Third

By DON WEISS

Frank Lane's collection of the bought and bartered—plus Stan Musial—have proved themselves on the road. Now if these St. Louis Cardinals can adjust their appetites to home cooking, this might be a National League battle that's literally going to the Birds."

Cardinal teams have threatened before without winning since the league pennant last flew over the St. Louis ballyard in 1946, but this is a season with all the earmarks of a new order.

The Cards are even beating Brooklyn at Ebbets Field—a sure sign it's time for a closer look.

A 7-6, 8-4 doubleheader sweep of the nose-diving Dodgers at the Brooks' stronghold Sunday — first time that's happened in at least eight years — boosted St. Louis into second place behind Milwaukee in the five-club NL race.

The double victory ended one of the most successful Cardinal Eastern trips (11-2) since the early 40's and gave the club a road record of 24-10, a .706 pace.

The only item that has stopped St. Louis short of the top is a 7-13 show before the home folks.

Milwaukee, 1½ games up on the flying Redbirds, split its doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning the first 3-2 but losing the second 1-0 to Curt Simmons despite a one-hitter from Lew Burdette. The New York Giants, with Don Mueller hitting a three-run pinch homer, dumped Cincinnati into third place, 4-3, and Chicago stopped Pittsburgh 4-1, in the first of two games at Forbes Field. The second fell victim to the Pennsylvania 7 p.m. curfew with the clubs tied 4-4 after 6 1-3 innings.

Chicago's White Sox added a half length to their American League lead over New York, defeating Washington 4-2 and 8-6 while the Yanks settled for an 8-6 victory over Kansas City in a 10-inning single game. Three and one-half games separates the teams. Improving Detroit, now 5½ games off the pace, edged Boston 2-1 on Harvey Kuenn's 10th-inning homer and Cleveland won twice from Baltimore, 4-3 and 5-1.

An 18-year-old bonus beauty only a week out of high school, Von McDaniel, represented the "bought" Hoyt Wilhelm the "bartered" and Musial was Musial in the Cardinals' splurge against Brooklyn, dropping the defending champion to fifth place.

McDaniel, younger brother of the Cards' Lindy McDaniel, allowed only one hit in four scoreless innings of relief in the opener, which Musial tied at 6-6 with a three-run homer and Ken Boyer won with a solo drive into the stands. Wilhelm outdid that in the second game, taking over for winner Willard Schmidt in the sixth retiring all 12 Dodgers he faced.

Burdette allowed only a sixth-inning double to Joe Lonnett in the second game at Philadelphia but an infield out and Richie Ashburn's sacrifice fly enabled Lonnett to score with the run that beat the Braves. Milwaukee left-hander Juan Pizarro had the opener in hand with a five-hitter despite homers by Willie Jones and Granny Hamner.

Millard Howell, a 37-year-old relief pitcher, used his bat as well as his right arm to help the White Sox sweep Washington after homers by Minnie Minoso and Jim Rivera had clinched the opener for Jim Wilson. Howell hit two successive home runs, his first in the majors, as Chicago bounced back from a 6-0 deficit.

The Yanks, with ex-Kansas City outfielder Harry Simpson contributing a key single, made it three straight over the A's. Simpson's hit moved Mickey Mantle to third, from where he scored the run that broke a 5-5 tie in the tenth inning. Elston Howard's two-run single wrapped it up for Bob Grim over Tom Gorman, both in relief.

Lanky Jim Bunning of Detroit struck out six to take over the AL lead with 76 and fired a three-hitter before Kuenn's Homer off Mike Fornieles topped the Red Sox. Bunning, now 7-1, has won

Golf's 19th Hole

The feminine contingent of the Country Club today is looking forward to the annual women's invitational golf tournament here June 26. Invitations have gone out to golfers in Wilmington, Circleville, London and Ohio State University.

The first Scotch mixed foursome of the season will be held next Sunday. As in the past, there will be a buffet supper following the golf. The first foursome is slated to tee off at 3 p.m.

THIS AND THAT from the notebook of Tony Capuana, the club pro:

Scott Molneyaux is not letting the years interfere with his game. After practicing indoors during the winter, the 75-year-old golfer is now hitting the ball 25 to 30 yards farther than he did last year.

Father's Day brought to the hearts of at least three golfers here. Stan Haggerty was swinging a new brassie, Ralph Bray was out bright and early. Bud Schlue had five one-putt greens with his new putter.

Bud Dawson is sporting a fancy golf outfit, featured by bright checked Bermuda shorts.

Covered dish supper for the whole family is Monday (today) this evening at the club. Mrs. Schlue is the chairman for this one.

Harris Willis was out last week for the first time this season.

The next club dance will be Saturday night.

The pro's niece, "Little Arvie," is visiting at the Capuana home again. Her home is on Catawba Island on Lake Erie. She is taking some lessons from Uncle Tom and hopes to be a par shooter some day.

Among the scores turned in last week were: Glen Roseboom 42, George Fitzgerald 40, John Petty 40, Baldwin Rice 44, Chuck Merriweather 45, Bill McArthur 45, Miss Kathleen Davis 60, Miss Joan Sparks 50, Roger McLean 39, Mrs. Bud Schlue 58, Stan Haggerty 41, Bud Schlue 38, Ed Vollette 40, C. R. Van Zant 42, Lon Tennehill 44, Dr. Charles Griffiths 45, Mrs. Richard Willis 62, Chuck Cummings 37 and Miss Nancy Schlue 60.

Dick Mayer New Open Golf King

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — America's new National Open golf king, 32-year-old Dick Mayer, was still in "I can't be eve it" dither today.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., pro has the features of movie idol and the courteous manner of an old Southern gentleman. He learned the rudiments of golf as a kid by batting a ball around a baseball diamond with a six-iron from his dad's set. He left a Wall Street brokerage job in 1949 to turn professional.

Sunday he defeated two-time champion Cary Middlecoff by seven strokes—a record for such extra heats—in the playoff over Inverness Club's hot and humid acres.

Mayer termed it the "allergy playoff" because he and Cary have been taking shots all week for various ailments. Middlecoff, who had two double bogies and finished 9 over par, after shooting a pair of 68s for a record in the final rounds, said he was "mentally exhausted."

"I played like a 'chopper' all day," he said. "I guess I left my golf right on the 18th green Saturday when I sank that birdie to tie."

The new king of the linksmen, hours after posting his 72 against Middlecoff's 79 over the par-70 course in 98-degree temperature, said, "I'm numb, and I'll be that way for days."

Until Sunday, Mayer hadn't won a tournament this year.

Reminded that he had just picked up a $7,200 check for his share of the $30,000 tournament gold, he remarked: "Hugh, Uncle Sam will hear and be around to see me."

Cops Chase Base Runner

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 19,500 baseball fans at Municipal Stadium were treated to a bit of unscheduled comedy during the Cleveland-Baltimore doubleheader Sunday when a fan suddenly appeared on the field and started running the bases with police in pursuit.

They cheered as the base runner, identified by police as Roger Fitt, 20, of Mogadore, Ohio, eluded his pursuers.

Fitt, a night watchman for an Akron excavating firm, explained later that "all of a sudden I felt like running around the bases in front of all those people."

Fayette County Teams Beaten

Game Here Marred By 5th Inning Melee

All three Fayette County teams in the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League took it on the chin in Sunday's games.

The Ross & Satterfield outfit, which represents Washington C. H., was drubbed, 12 to 5, at the park on Oakland Ave. here by the boys from Chillicothe.

Milledgeville was trounced, 8 to 3, at the Chillicothe Reformatory. Bloomingburg was nosed out, 4 to 2, on its own lot by Greenfield.

In the other SWO game, the Columbus All Star swamped Blanchester 26 to 0.

Trailing by a score of 4-0 going into the bottom of the fifth inning, the Flashes threatened to break the game open in their half of the inning. The Flashes loaded the bases with one down, but due to a time limit set so that the second game could be played, the game was called and a victory was awarded to the Flashes.

Cubs Win Two L. L. Games by Same Score

The Cubs swept both ends of a Little League double header at Wilson Field by identical scores of 4-3 Saturday and evened their record at 2-2 for the year.

Burdette allowed only a sixth-inning double to Joe Lonnett in the second game at Philadelphia but an infield out and Richie Ashburn's sacrifice fly enabled Lonnett to score with the run that beat the Braves. Milwaukee left-hander Juan Pizarro had the opener in hand with a five-hitter despite homers by Willie Jones and Granny Hamner.

Fayette County Teams Beaten

Game Here Marred
By 5th Inning Melee

All three Fayette County teams in Sabina have just returned from a golfing tour of Pennsylvania. Dewey Sheidler is golfing in Florida. Bill Junk and Dwight Coffman tried the fairways of the Columbus Country Club. Charles Reinke and Bill Lord tried the rolling course at the Snowhill Country Club near Wilmington. Dr. Robert Hagerty played the York Temple club course in Columbus in 5.

THIS AND THAT from the notebook of Tony Capuana, the club pro:

Scott Molynaux is not letting the years interfere with his game.

After practicing indoors during the winter, the 75-year-old golfer is now hitting the ball 25 to 30 yards farther than he did last year.

Father's Day brought to the hearts of at least three golfers here. Stan Hagerty was swing a new brassie, Ralph Bray was out bright and early. Bud Schlue had five one-putt greens with his new putter.

Bud Dawson is sporting a fancy golf outfit, featured by bright checkerboard Bermuda shorts.

Covered dish supper for the whole family is Monday (today) this evening at the club. Mrs. Schlue is the chairwoman for this one.

Harris Willis was out last week for the first time this season.

Cubs Win Two L. L. Games by Same Score

The Cubs swept both ends of a Little League double header at Wilson Field by identical scores of 4-3 Saturday and even their record at 2-2 for the year.

In the first game it was Mike Lewis and Gary Kimball who combined their efforts in holding the Flashes to three runs and six hits.

The Cubs came upon one of their biggest hitting sprees of the year, getting nine safeties.

Myron Lambert pitched all the way for the Flashes in this tightly-fought ball game and was the victim of all Cub runs.

About-Average Temperature Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The weather bureau says its 30-day outlook for the period mid-June to mid-July calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the eastern third of the nation.

The greatest departures above normal will be in the Ohio Valley and the middle Atlantic states, the bureau said. Precipitation is expected to be subnormal over the northeast quarter of the country and also in the far southwest. Elsewhere rainfall is predicted to exceed seasonal normals.

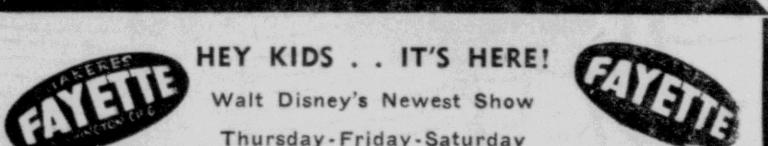

The 10th president of the United States, John Tyler, had two wives. He had seven children by each.

New Probation Officer Starts His Work Here

Richard J. (Joe) McMullen, 22, a 1957 graduate of Purdue University, started work Monday morning as Fayette County's first probation officer.

"I suppose I can be kept busy for a long time now just learning the ropes," the lean, youthful sociology major said.

Appointed last week after county commissioners made a special $2,600 allocation to pay his salary and expenses for the rest of the year, McMullen will work under Juvenile Judge Robert L. Brubaker, who has been backing the idea of a probation officer here for more than two years.

He will be empowered to super-

Wounded Youth Given 30 Days

Guilty Plea Entered To Gasoline Theft

Still recovering from shotgun wounds he sustained while allegedly stealing gasoline a week ago, Raymond Jackson, 18, of 901 Forest St., was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Monday. He pleaded guilty.

Jackson was the third youth sentenced in connection with the alleged theft of $1.50 worth of gas from the Joseph V. Bryant farm, White Rd., early last Monday.

Jackson's arraignment had been delayed while he was treated in Memorial Hospital for pellet wounds he received as he allegedly fled the scene in a hail of shot fired by Bryant.

Similar sentences were meted out to his brother, Charles, 19, and to Bill Smith, 19, of near Washington C. H., in Municipal Court last Wednesday.

AT THE SAME court session one man was fined for disorderly conduct and charges of assault against another were withdrawn.

Fined $10 and costs after he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct was Jerold Cartwright of Washington C. H. He was also sentenced to three days in jail. The jail sentence was suspended on condition that he stay out of trouble for a year.

Charges of assault against Sanford Blake, Jr., 29, of 417 E. East St., were withdrawn by his wife, the prosecuting witness.

Two Are Hurt In Car Mishaps

Woman Suffers Broken Collarbone

Two people were injured—neither critically—in auto accidents here over the weekend.

Treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for a broken collarbone was Mrs. Davida Moore of Route 3, Sabina, who was injured when the auto in which she was riding rolled over on Route 35 north about 10 a. m. Sunday.

Treated by a physician for a strained arm was Lucine Mongold, 31, of near Washington C. H., who was injured in a two-car collision on East St. about 3:20 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Moore was a passenger in an auto driven by her husband, who was towing another auto, owned by John Ellwood Allen of Edgefield Rd.

THE TWO-CAR caravan was going north on Route 35 just west of the junction of Route 729, when Allen's car started to swerve from side to side. Moore lost control of her car, and both the two vehicles rolled over into a ditch.

Moore's car was demolished, and there was considerable frame damage to Allen's car, sheriff's officers said.

Man Adrift Five Days In Pacific

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—"Two lousy matches" saved a commercial fisherman from the Pacific after five days adrift in his disabled salmon troller.

"I was down to two lousy matches," said Jack Coats, Eureka, Calif., when rescued before dawn Sunday. "But I was ready."

After drifting 200 miles through fog and heavy seas, Coats, 32, soaked his shirt in gasoline and waved it for a flare. That was at 1 a. m. Sunday morning when he saw the lights of the destroyer George Anderson bearing down on him 22 miles off Monterey.

Even though he had consumed only raw fish, a nubbin of mouldy bread, five vitamin pills and two quarts of brackish water left over from last season, he refused to leave his boat, the Gojoc. The Anderson kept him under her floodlights until a Coast Guard arrived to tow him to port.

COATS was in good condition and drove back to Eureka Sunday with his wife.

He vanished last Tuesday afternoon off Arena Cove more than 100 miles north of San Francisco when he took his 36-foot boat out for a test.

His battery failed, the engine wouldn't start, his radio was dead and a fog closed in.

The Coast Guard searched the sea with three cutters and two planes. Fishermen were alerted, but he scudded rapidly southward before a strong wind through heavy seas and fog.

Mrs. John G. Noble, Route 4, infant retained for further treatment.

Mainly About People

Mrs. J. W. Southard, S. Fayette St., who recently underwent an operation in University Hospital, Columbus, returned to his home Sunday.

Mrs. Bob Kelley, 606 E. Temple St., is a patient in Grant Hospital, Columbus. She is in room 317.

Mrs. Faith Pearce, who was released from Memorial Hospital about four weeks ago after undergoing treatment for a heart ailment, went to St. Louis last weekend for an indefinite visit with her daughter, Mrs. D. S. Mann, Mrs. Mann and her two children, Pearce and Mindy, had been here since Mrs. Pearce entered the hospital eight weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rinehart, Route 3, are announcing the birth of a 7 pound, 8 ounce daughter, born at 12:40 p. m. Saturday in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mongold, Route 1, Greenfield, are the parents of a 7 pound, 9 ounce son, born in Memorial Hospital at 10:45 a. m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dennis, Route 2, Williamsport, are announcing the birth of an 8 pound, 4 ounce son, born Sunday at 1:39 a. m. in Memorial Hospital.

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—"Two lousy matches" saved a commercial fisherman from the Pacific after five days adrift in his disabled salmon troller.

"I was down to two lousy matches," said Jack Coats, Eureka, Calif., when rescued before dawn Sunday. "But I was ready."

After drifting 200 miles through fog and heavy seas, Coats, 32, soaked his shirt in gasoline and waved it for a flare. That was at 1 a. m. Sunday morning when he saw the lights of the destroyer George Anderson bearing down on him 22 miles off Monterey.

Even though he had consumed only raw fish, a nubbin of mouldy bread, five vitamin pills and two quarts of brackish water left over from last season, he refused to leave his boat, the Gojoc. The Anderson kept him under her floodlights until a Coast Guard cutter arrived to tow him to port.

COATS was in good condition and drove back to Eureka Sunday with his wife.

He vanished last Tuesday afternoon off Arena Cove more than 100 miles north of San Francisco when he took his 36-foot boat out for a test.

His battery failed, the engine wouldn't start, his radio was dead and a fog closed in.

The Coast Guard searched the sea with three cutters and two planes. Fishermen were alerted, but he scuttled rapidly southward before a strong wind through heavy seas and fog.
